Preparation: Know Your Audience (I)

Investors and Funders are:

- Risk Takers and Risk Mitigators
- Always on the lookout for the next big thing
  - They want to find it.
  - They hope you’re about to bring it to them.
- They see hundreds of pitches that claim to be but are not the next big thing.
- When they think they might have found it, they flip
  - They get hyper-critical
  - They look for all the thinks that can go wrong.
- You have to feed them what they eat.

The Narrative Arc: A Drama in Five Acts

- Act I: There is a big, important problem out there.
  - We understand the problem and the people who have it.
  - We know how these people are dealing with the problem.
  - We can quantify the size of the problem.

- Act II: We have a solution.
  - We have a product and a startup to deliver it.
  - We understand our value versus the competition.

- Act III: We are the ones who can do this.
  - The Team

- Act IV: We have a plan.
  - Go to Market
  - Operations
  - We can make money.
  - We can grow.

- Act V: Here is what we need from you.
Moving Them Up and Down The Hill

Things That Help Them Up the Hill
• Logical Progression
• Things They Can Relate To
• Validators (independent, outside)
• Believable Upside

Things That Take Them Down the Hill
• Saying Things They Know are Untrue
• Mushy Language
• Things They Don’t Understand
• Inconsistencies
• Errors, Typos, Sloppy Mistakes

• The Audience Choice Award
• General Advice for Presentations
The Art of the Q&A

- You cannot convey all the good information you have in 12 minutes.
- Q&A gives you a chance to supply additional information and
- It’s guided by your target audience!
- The first key skill is listening
  - Be sure you “get” the question before answering
  - “Active Listening”
Three Kinds of Questions

1. I Didn’t Get It: “I still don’t understand …..”
   • You can recover
   • Take ample time to re-explain

2. I’m Smarter Than You: “Are you familiar with XYZ.com? How are you better?”
   • Use this as a chance to demonstrate your depth of understanding.

3. Implementation Details: “Tell me how you plan to capture the international market.”
   • Field these crisply and concisely.
How to Get the Most Out of Q&A

- Come forward (physically) as a team
- Take time to “get” the question.
- Be polite and respectful.
- NEVER be defensive.
- Give crisp concise answers
- Short Answers → More Questions → More Answers → More Gaps Filled In.
- Tip: Try to predict 10 questions that you might get and have prepared answers ready.

Q&A is often what decides the winners!

Lilo Siderman.
Founder and CEO, Gypsywing Media
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=S3n5YRZD4Cw

Creating the Perfect Pitch Deck

• 28–pt. font; 3-4 bullets per slide
• Know your audience
• Don’t focus on your “Solution Slide.”
Lilo Siderman. Her 9-slide deck:

• 30-second Elevator Pitch
• The Problem
• The Solution
• The Addressable Market
• Revenue Model and Financials
• The Team
• The Competition and Your Competitive Advantage
• Development Plan
• Contact Information
Other Approaches (III)

Guy Kawasaki, Canva, Haas School of Business, UC Berkeley

Guy Kawasaki 10 20 30 Rule

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-M13SObffog

- Use only 10 slides
- Take no more than 20 minutes
- Use no font smaller than 30-pt; less text
Guy Kawasaki. His 10-slide deck:

- Title
- The Problem
- The Solution
- Business Model
- Underlying Magic
- Marketing and Sales
- Competition
- Team
- Projections
- Status and Timeline
Other Approaches (V)

David S. Rose.

On Pitching To VCs

- VCs are most interested in YOU, Your Integrity and Passion and that you are Coachable
- Build a great connection with the audience
- Use sparse slides
Other Approaches (VI)

David S. Rose. His 13-slide deck:

- Logo
- Business Overview
- Team
- Market
- Product
- Business Model
- Strategic Relationships
- Competition
- Barriers to Entry
- Financial Overview
- Use of Funds
- Capital and Valuation (The Ask)
- Conclusion

The Audience Choice Award: Pitching to a General Audience

• Getting them Up the Hill is Much More Important
  • Audience is younger, less skeptical, more accepting
• Form and entertainment matter much more
• Visuals matter much more
  • Fewer words, more images
• You must connect with more than just 13 judges
• You must be memorable
• Time is really short
  • Rehearse, Rehearse with a watch
The Audience Choice Award: Sparse Slides

• Good – Short Bullet Points
• Better – Just the Headline
• Best – Only Images

TOPICS

• Fear of Presenting
• The Purpose of Your Presentation
• Some Meta Issues
• Elements of Your Presentation
  • Content, Verbal, Voice, Visuals, Actions, Time Management
• Dealing with Stress and Anxiety

Lynda Maddox, Developing a Compelling Oral Presentation for your Startup Pitch. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=A5UEV456rLE
Fear of Presenting
The Purpose of Your Presentation

- To Inform, Educate
- To Persuade
- To Entertain
- To Inspire
- To Cause to Take Action
Some Meta Issues

- Connect
  - Eye Contact (Minimum of 3 seconds)
- Be Authentic
  - Let the Real You Come Through
- Show Enthusiasm
  - Calibrate Your Internal Monitor
- Work Hard on Your Pitch
  - > 50% of your remaining NVC Effort
- Rehearse, Rehearse, Rehearse
  - Use your real-time Cognitive Ability to Optimize your Performance, Not to Retrieve your Presentation
Elements of Your Presentation (I)

Content
- The Narrative Arc
- A Handout?
- Samples?
- Demo?

Verbal
- “I didn't have time to write a short letter, so I wrote a long one instead.”
- Eliminate mushy language.

Voice
- Varied. Rise and Fall. Pause. Use Silence.
Elements of Your Presentation (II): Visuals

- Use Images
  - Faster information transfer (60,000X); Saves precious time
- Video?
- Consistent Format Across Slides
  - Common Look and Feel; Branding
- Readable Consistent Font (at least 24 pt...)
- Spell Check and Proofread
- Sharp Contrast
- Slide Mechanics
  - Use Remote Control
  - Do Not Look at Screen (Presenter Mode; Podium?)
  - Do Not Read (Notes?)
Elements of Your Presentation (III): Actions

Dress the Part:
Who do you want them to see when they see YOU?
Elements of Your Presentation (III):  Actions (continued)

- Team Presenting
  - Practice as a Team
  - Practice Transitions
  - Introduce All Team Members
  - When not presenting, show interest and support (nodding, affirming, interjecting).
  - If someone falters, step in to help.
- Avoid: Nervous Movements, Pointing, Formidable Postures
- Shake Hands
Elements of Your Presentation (IV)

Time Management

• Figure Out Your Lap Times
• Think Through “Plan B”
Dealing with Stress and Anxiety

- It’s OK to be a Little Nervous
- You’re the Expert in Your Venture
- Pause, Look Around
- Breathe
- Locate Friendly Faces
- Drink Water
- The Audience and the Judges are Rooting for your Success.
